

WATER DEPARTMENT

MANDATORY WATER CONSERVATION

Effective August 18, 2011, the total watering ban in the Town of Wenham has been relaxed to again allow sprinklers between 5pm and 9am. The recent rainfall has brought the Ipswich River water flow above the mandatory water ban level. Although conservation is always necessary and encouraged, the increased water level in the Ipswich River allows us to relax the ban in accordance with the Water Conservation By-law and in compliance with our withdrawal permit issued by the State, which mandates no sprinklers allowed between 9am to 5pm, hand watering only is allowed during those hours. The mandatory water conservation remains in effect until September 30 and includes private wells. We would like to thank all residents for their understanding and cooperation.
